2011 APHA Fall Championship World Show

Save money by pre-entering by September 10 deadline

Pre-enter by the September 10 deadline for the most value. This year, all Open and Amateur-level competition will take place together, making for a more uniform feel and timeline for our competitors as the Association brings their reining and cattle events into the fold with the other Open and Amateur events.

Please drive carefully – children will soon be walking on the streets and entering crosswalks on their way to and from school.

I recently asked the director of a mental asylum, "How do you know when a person needs to be institutionalized?"

He said, "Well we fill a bathtub with water and we offer them a teaspoon, a teacup and a bucket and ask them to empty the tub."

I said, "Oh okay, so a normal person would choose the bucket because it is bigger?"

He responded, "No. A normal person would pull the plug. Would you like a bed by the window?"

U C Davis to Offer More Testing Options

APHA announced its affiliation with University of California, Davis (UC Davis) as the official genetic testing provider effective January 1, 2012. APHA requires genetic parentage testing for all breeding stallions, racehorses, foals produced by certain breeding methods and horses with certain registration situations.

“APHA’s affiliation with UC Davis is an exciting move for us,” said Lex Smurthwaite, Executive Director of the APHA. “We will now be able to offer members a wide range of testing to improve breeding chances for specific colors and to avoid potential diseases. Our APHA members have asked for this and we made it happen.”

In addition to the parentage verification test currently offered, UC Davis will also provide APHA members with two optional packages to test for color genes and diseases.

One optional packages is the comprehensive coat color package, which will test for 11 color genes including tobiano, sabino, lethal white and others. The ability to recognize these patterns and understand the genetics behind them is essential for Paint breeders to increase the proportion of spotted horses in foal crops.

The other option is the complete disease diagnostic package that tests for several genetically transferred diseases including HYPP, Overo Lethal White Syndrome, Hereditary Equine Regional Dermal Asthenia, and Glycogen Branching Enzyme Deficiency.

Breeders who are interested in finding out more information about their horses will benefit from the technology UC Davis can provide. Paint owners can gain additional insight by using these two new options to test their horses for diseases and color genes.

Owners and breeders of Paints will be able to use the comprehensive genetic testing options beginning January 1, 2012. For additional information contact Cindy Grier, APHA Field Services Managing Director, at cgrier@apha.com or by calling (817) 834-APHA (2742).
